Your place in the new market

The Twelfth Annual Canadian Independent Power Conference and Trade Show

November 27 and 28, 2000, Sheraton Hotel, downtown Toronto

- The Ontario Power Market is scheduled to open to competition this year, and other provinces are in various stages of market opening, creating major new opportunities and challenges for anyone who plans to buy or sell power in Canada in the near future. How will the system be managed and how can your company make the most of the new arrangements? IPPSO's 2000 conference will provide in-depth and up-to-date information on the functioning of crucial institutions such as the Independent Market Operator, the Ontario Energy Board, and the Ontario Hydro Successor companies.
- Topics will include: Transmission Access, the Regulatory Context, Green power marketing; Update on IMO technical developments; Ontario Energy Board licensing; OPGI decontrol, the role of local electric utilities; pricing issues, emission trading, and other key topics.
- Delegates will include top professionals, executives and policy-makers from industry, government, energy customers, and utilities across North America.
- The Trade Show is expected to feature the largest gathering of NUG industry players ever to assemble in Canada.
